

Displaying Data Points

The company and its users have the option of displaying their data points in their line, time series or area chart. The data points can help to visualize the data better and with more accuracy.